

The agency's record of the open access information (if any) that it does not make publicly available on the basis of an overriding public interest against disclosure.

Under the Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009 (GIPA Act), when deciding whether or not to release information, government agencies must consider whether there is an overriding public interest against releasing the information.

For more information on how government agencies apply the public interest test when determining whether or not to release information, access a special fact sheet on this topic from the Office of the Information Commissioner website.

The table below includes information Wentworth Shire Council has decided not to release based on an overriding public interest against disclosure.

Wentworth Shire Council Open access information not released on the basis of an overriding public interest against disclosure
Determination Date	General Nature of Information	Public Interest Reasons Against Disclosure

There have been no GIPA requests withheld in 2022/23