NSW Residents and NSW Workers gain Free Training

The Australian and NSW Governments have signed a landmark 12-month Skills Agreement to address the current skills shortage and deliver Fee Free TAFE and more vocational education places for the people of NSW.

The $319 million agreement will deliver a significant boost to the NSW skills and training sector.

This will provide immediate support through approximately 120,000 Fee Free TAFE and vocational education and training (VET) places in 2023.

The course list will see approximately 40,200 fee-free places in the care sector (including approximately 10,000 in the Early Childhood Education and Care sector), 9900 in technology and digital, 6900 in agriculture, 5200 in construction, 5000 in hospitality and tourism, 1200 in sovereign capability, and 51,400 in other priority sectors including foundation skills.
